

Epic Channel Programming Head, Akul Tripathi on launch of Epic TV OTT

“We believe that consumers today value quality content and are willing to subscribe to platforms which consistently deliver premium original content that is different in its offerings from the normal fare being dished out en-masse. This trend in consumer behaviour is only going to strengthen; creating a robust foundation for platforms committed towards consistent quality programming”.